Martinez For Drug Trafficking

SAN IGNACIO TOWN, Monday, September 24, 2012:

In yet another case of the movement of marijuana on a Sunday, a male youth from Ontario Village will either be paying a ten thousand dollar fine or will be spending the next three years of his life behind bars after pleading guilty to a drug trafficking charge.

The report reaching us indicates that whilst on mobile patrol in the village under his command, at around 2 o'clock on the evening of Sunday, September 23, the policeman posted at the police substation in Georgeville reportedly spotted a male person, acting suspiciously, as he held on to a bicycle. The youth, with a blue and black knapsack on his back, was seen standing on George Price Highway between the bus stop and the community center in Georgeville.

In the short time that it took the police to turn around the vehicle with intent to check on the youth, he was gone. The policeman continued driving up the highway towards Belmopan when, upon entering Ontario Village, he again spotted the youth riding the bicycle and heading in the same direction. He was detained and when the knapsack was searched, a black plastic bag containing suspected marijuana was found therein.

What Are We Going To Do About Belize's Foreign Debt?

By: Wellington C. Ramos

I am a proud Belizean and American citizen a service veteran of these two beloved countries who has put his life on the line for both nations like thousands of other Belizean American citizens before and after me. Even though I have lived in the United States of America for many years, I still consider Belize to be my home because it is the country of my birth. The American citizenship I hold can be revoked but my Belizean citizenship is solid as a rock.

There are about 300,000 or more Belizeans living in America and most of them feel the same way about Belize like me.

Our regular remittances to our families in Belize, is what helps to the Belizean economy viable as has been documented by many reputable financial agencies. Belize is much better off with the involvement of Belizeans who live in the United States because they possess financial and human resources to benefit the country. Any Belizean who fail to accept this fact of life is living in a world of fantasy.

Notwithstanding this fact, both political parties have failed to formulate a comprehensive benefit package to involve Belizean Americans so that they can invest their financial and human resources in Belize to make it a vibrant nation in this world.

The current Prime Minister, Hon Dean Barrow, had the right idea in the 7th Amendment to the Constitution of Belize as it pertains to the matter of Dual Citizenship enabling Belizean Americans to seek political office in Belize without giving up their American citizenship.

The opposition People's United Party (PUP) and a few selfish individuals within that party were against this idea.

This is the very same political party, when in government, gives away and sells Belizean citizenship to foreigners who now have more benefits, privileges and rights in Belize than natural born Belizeans.

If political parties in Belize continue to disrespect and shun Belizean Americans in the political affairs of their country where they have a vital interest, Belizean Americans will eventually be forced to form their own political party in Belize to represent their interest and that will become one of the most powerful political party in Belize. They possess the financial and human resources that their fellow Belizean brothers and sisters in Belize cannot match.

In the ten years that the PUP was in power they borrowed about US. 600 million US dollars on behalf of the people and government of Belize. This money was not used to invest in the country's infrastructural, industrial, economic, technological and human development. It is said that they took all this money and spent it on their families, friends and political cronies. Corruption was rampant in that administration.

They acted as if Belize belongs to them and them alone. In the year 2008 when the United Democratic Party (UDP) took over the reigns of government in Belize, the government was flat broke, unemployment was high, there was no significant industrial, technological, infrastructural and human development. There was an increase in the poverty rate.

It was left to the new UDP government to find ways and means to revitalize the nation's economy, pay the debt and restore the nation's to a viable economic footing.

The former Prime Minister, Said Musa and his Head Honcho, Budget Management Minister Ralph Fonseca were criminally charged for drug trafficking.

After accepting the facts as read by prosecutor George Gomez, magistrate Morgan proceeded to impose a fine of ten thousand dollars ordering for five thousand to be paid forthwith with the remaining five thousand to be paid by January 31, 2013. Magistrate Morgan also informed that in default of payment, Martinez would spend three years in jail. He was unable to pay the first five thousand dollar installment and was transported to the central prison until he either pays the fine or spends the time.

the diversion of funds granted by the Venezuelan government to the Belizean people, since it is almost impossible to convict politicians past or present in Belize, the charges against Musa and Fonseca were dismissed.

Criminal charges were also brought against two other ministers namely Jose Coye and Florencio Marin Sr. for allegedly underpricing government land which they purchased and resold at exorbitant prices. They were convicted but appealed the convictions to the Caribbean Court of Justice (CCJ).

In a landmark ruling the court ruled that former Ministers of government can be held accountable for acts they committed while in government.

To date I do not know if the current UDP government has reinstituted charges against Musa and Fonseca to get back the money for the people and government of Belize.

The legal instruments, I am told, is still available to the Prime Minister of Belize to look into how this debt was accumulated, look at how the funds were spent, disbursed and have these former elected Representatives pay for the debt.

It is unfair for the masses of Belizeans, through taxes, to pay this debt, when many of those Ministers are far wealthier now than when they were first elected to office. This fact was publicly reported to the nation by their own former leader, John Briceno, who in an infamous public statement instructed all those who got rich under the PUP to bring back to money (not to Belize but) to the PUP.

Belize, as an independent nation on the crossroads between Central American and the Caribbean, this week celebrated its 31st anniversary as an independent nation, the time is now not to celebrate but rather to seriously contemplate what we are going to do about the current state of the nation's foreign debt.

A team of police officers arrived on the scene shortly thereafter. The initial investigation revealed that the red Nissan Frontier, with Government of Belize, Belmopan license plates B-0200, attached to the Ministry of Natural Resources and Agriculture, assigned to the Agriculture station in Central Farm, was being driven at the time by Ministry of Agriculture employee, John Martinez, 25 of #25 Victoria Street, San Ignacio.

Police reports "that whilst speaking to Martinez he was staggering and the strong aroma of alcohol was coming from his breath". Both vehicles were fully licensed and insured while Martinez was in possession of a valid driver's permit. The police further reports that both vehicles were seen with damages to the left front sections.

Martinez was transported to the police station in San Ignacio and later to the San Ignacio Community Hospital where he gave a urine sample for testing after. He was returned to the police station where he was later arrested and charged for driving without due care and attention and driving a motor vehicle with alcohol concentration above the prescribed limit.

He appeared in court on Monday, September 24, where both charges were read to him by magistrate Narda Morgan. He instantly pled guilty to both charges and was ordered to forthwith pay a one hundred dollar fine on the charge of driving without due care and attention. Sentencing on the other charge was delayed pending the outcome of the results of the urine sample. Martinez was ordered to return to court on Tuesday, November 13.

Preparing The Nation And People In The Era Of Science and Technology

The opening address was delivered by Acting Prime Minister, Hon. Gaspar Vega, Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Natural Resources and Agriculture who in his address pledged government's full support for the bold initiative of the Ministry of Energy, Science and Technology and Public Utilities (ESTPU).

The Minister's Remarks was delivered by Senator Hon. Audrey Joy Grant, Minister of ESTPU who in a detailed and comprehensive address outlined the Strategic Plan geared to addressing the nation's position in terms of its energy sources, needs and economic implications. It also seeks to address the current position of Belize's low ranking in global competitiveness. In this regard Minister Grant informed that "Belize uses fossil fuels for 65% of its energy needs. The country imported 88% of its fossil fuel needs at a cost $339 million dollars in 2011, this represents 10% of GDP and 11% of total imports. The transport sector uses most of the fossil fuels, so as a matter of urgency we must undertake a comprehensive review of the sector to address the issue of efficiencies." She went on to highlight the global competitiveness index report of 2012 which she said "ranks Belize as one of the least competitive economies in the world. We are rank 123 out of 142 countries. In the region only Haiti has a lower rank. On further analysis we note that our technological readiness Belize is rank 101 for internet users for every 100 people in the population and ranks 136 of 142 countries for foreign direct investment and technology transfer." Minister Grant also said that "With regard to information and communication technology in the region, Barbados has a 70% ICT penetration for internet. Costa Rica which is closer to Belize in size and topography has 30% penetration, Belize has 10% penetration."

A synopsis of the Strategic Plan was ably delivered by Dr. Colin Young, Chief Executive Officer in the

Hon. Gaspar Vega

Ministry of ESTPU.

Dr. Young highlighted several of the pilot projects and initiatives to be undertaken by the Ministry, with private sector involvement, as the plan is implemented over the next five years to address the economic and developmental needs of the country. Of interest also is the plan's emphasis on Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) in our school's curriculum as the focus is placed on producing more scientists and nation builders to foster the economic development of the nation.

The key note address was delivered by Dr. Cardinal Warde, Professor of Electrical Engineering, MIT who, along with Minister Grant, is a Member of the Prime Minister's Council of Science Advisors.

Dr. Warde holds a bachelor's degree in physics with high honors from Stevens Institute of Technology as well as M. Phil, and Ph.D. degrees in Physics from Yale University. He is the Interim Director of the Caribbean Science Foundation and President of the Caribbean Diaspora for Science, Technology and Innovation with headquarters in Boston. He has received numerous honors and awards in the United States of America and the Caribbean.

In his address Professor Warde commended the Government of Belize for establishing a specific cabinet portfolio with responsibility for Science and Technology. He also spoke at length about the vital role that science and technology plays in the building of a nation and its people.

Also in attendance was Dr. Adebayo Agbejule, Program Coordinator, International Energy Technology and Management at the Vaasa University of Applied Science. Dr Agbejule presented a case study on the role of Energy, Science and Technology in Accelerating National Development.

The official launching of the strategic plan ended with closing remarks by Ambrose Tillett, Energy

Dr. Adebayo Agbejule

CEO, Dr. Colin Young

Director in the Ministry of ESTPU after which it continued in the afternoon with a lecture on the potential impact of STEM based Entrepreneurship on Economic Development in the Region.

The programs continues on Friday, September 28 at 10:00 at the University of Belize Auditorium in Belmopan with a Roundtable Science Discussion featuring University of Belize students.

The strategic plan is available on CD at the Ministry of ESTPU. It can also be downloaded for the Ministry's website at www.belize.gov.bz/public/Data/292616181371.pdf

Thirty Days In Prison For Disobeying The Court

SAN IGNACIO TOWN, Cayo, Monday, September 24, 2012:

Selmo Garcia, 42, Belizean tour guide of a Kontiki Area address in San Ignacio will spend the next 30 days behind bars after pleading guilty today to a charge of driving a motor vehicle after being disqualified from driving.

Police reports that whilst on mobile patrol on Bullet Tree Road in San Ignacio at around 10:00 am on Saturday, September 22, 2012, they came upon a grey pickup coming in the opposite direction with the disqualified Garcia driving the vehicle.

The policeman in the patrol vehicle recalled that Garcia was recently disqualified from driving for a year by magistrate Narda Morgan after he was convicted of several traffic offences including driving a motor vehicle not covered by third party risk insurance.

With intent to intercept the offending driver, the police mobile spun around and began to pursue the grey pickup. Apparently realizing that the police was after him, Garcia reportedly attempted to outrun the police vehicle. He reported sped down two streets before the police caught up with him. He attempted to walk away from the vehicle but the police caught him a few feet from the parked vehicle. He was instantly detained and transported to the police station where he was formally arrested and charged for the offence of “Drove motor vehicle after being disqualified from driving.”

Selmo Garcia, 42

Garcia appeared in the courtroom of magistrate Narda Morgan on Monday, September 24, where the charge was read to him by the same magistrate Morgan who in July 2012 had disqualified him from driving for a full year.

He pled guilty to the charge and when the facts were read to him by prosecutor George Gomez he objected to two points. He told the court that when he was arrested, he was not read his rights and that he did not run off but actually walked away from the vehicle he was driving.

Magistrate Morgan informed him that the two points were not relevant to the charge. He then told the court that he was returning from an emergency trip to the hospital but admitted that when he was initially detained he did not relay this information to the police.

After advising him that he could have requested a suspension of the sentence from the court, magistrate Morgan proceed of sentence him to 30 days in jail but not before advising him of the seriousness of disobeying an order from the court.

Visibly shocked by the sentence, Garcia was handcuffed and escorted out of the courtroom to begin serving the one month prison sentence.

Gongora Gone For Eight Weeks

SAN IGNACIO TOWN, Cayo, Thursday, August 27, 2012:

A seven-month long wounding trial ended today in a guilty verdict and an eight week sentence for the accused.

The wounding charge stems from a February 17, 2012 incident in which the police were summoned to the emergency ward at the San Ignacio Community Hospital. Upon arrival the police encountered a male youth identified as Jorde Usher, 18, Belizean student from Georgeville, undergoing emergency medical treatment for multiple stab wounds to the back and lower right arm.

In a statement to the police Usher informed that at around 7:30 on the morning of Friday, February 17, 2012, he was traveling on a Shaw bus from Georgeville on his way to school in Santa Elena. Among the other passengers on board the bus was, Brandon Gongora, 18, Belizean laborer, also residing in Georgeville.

Usher told the police that as they exited the bus on George Price Avenue in Santa Elena, the other male youth whom he knows as Brandon Gongora, from his home village, pulled out a knife and stabbed him three times to the back of his right arm and twice to his lower back.

The bleeding victim was rushed to the hospital in San Ignacio where the police met him undergoing treatment. While Usher was undergoing treatment, the police issued the legally required medical forms on which the attending medical officer on duty

The Convict Brandon Gongora, 18

Dr. Chen classified the injuries as wounding.

The police sprang into quick action and in less than four hours after the incident the accused Brandon Gongora was detained while relaxing at a house in Esperanza Village. Gongora was transported to the police station in San Ignacio where he was arrested and charged for wounding Jorde Usher.

After several court appearances and adjournments over the past seven months, the trial of the unrepresented Brandon Gongora concluded today in the courtroom of magistrate Narda Morgan.

Gongora was found guilty of the charge and sentenced to eight weeks imprisonment.

Everything You Should Know About Pertussis “Whooping Cough”

Pertussis — commonly called whooping cough — is a highly contagious bacterial disease caused by Bordetella pertussis. In some countries, this disease is called the cough of 100 days.

Symptoms are initially mild, and then develop into severe coughing fits, which produce the namesake high-pitched “whoop” sound in infected babies and children when they inhale air after coughing. The coughing stage lasts approximately six weeks before subsiding.

Prevention by vaccination is of primary importance because treatment is of little benefit to the person infected. However, antibiotics shorten the duration of infectiousness and are thus recommended. It is estimated that the disease currently affects 48.5 million people yearly, resulting in nearly 295,000 deaths.

Signs and Symptoms

The classic signs of pertussis are a paroxysmal cough, inspiratory whoop, and vomiting after coughing. The cough from pertussis has been documented to cause subconjunctival hemorrhages, rib fractures, urinary incontinence, hernias, post-cough fainting, and vertebral artery dissection. If there is vomiting after a coughing spell or an inspiratory whooping sound on coughing, the likelihood that the illness is pertussis is nearly doubled. On the other hand, the absence of a paroxysmal cough or posttussive emesis makes it almost half as likely.

The incubation period is typically seven to ten days in infants or young children, after which there are usually mild respiratory symptoms, mild coughing, sneezing, or runny nose. This is known as the catarrhal stage. After one to two weeks, the coughing classically develops into uncontrollable fits, each with five to ten forceful coughs, followed by a high-pitched “whoop” sound in younger children, or a gasping sound in older children, as the patient struggles to breathe in afterwards (paroxysmal stage).

Fits can occur on their own or can be triggered by yawning, stretching, laughing, eating or yelling; they usually occur in groups, with multiple episodes every hour around the clock.

This stage usually lasts two to eight weeks, or sometimes longer. A gradual transition then occurs to the convalescent stage, which usually lasts one to two weeks. This stage is marked by a decrease in paroxysms of coughing, both in frequency and severity, and a cessation of vomiting.

Diagnosis

Methods used in laboratory diagnosis include culturing of nasopharyngeal swabs on Bordet-Gengou medium, polymerase chain reaction (PCR), direct immunofluorescence (DFA), and serological methods. The bacteria can be recovered from the patient only during the first three weeks of illness, rendering culturing and DFA useless after this period, although PCR may have some limited usefulness for an additional three weeks.

For most adults and adolescents, who often do not seek medical care until several weeks into their illness, serology may be used to determine whether antibody against pertussis toxin or another component of B. pertussis is present at high levels in the blood of the patient. By this stage they have been contagious for some weeks and may have spread the infection to many people. Because of this, adults, who are not in great danger from pertussis, are increasingly being encouraged to be vaccinated.

Prevention

The primary method of prevention for pertussis is vaccination. There is insufficient evidence to determine the effectiveness of antibiotics in those who have been exposed but are without symptoms. Prophylactic antibiotics, however, are still frequently used in those who have been exposed and are at high risk of severe disease (such as infants).

Vaccine

Pertussis vaccines are effective, routinely recommended by the World Health Organization and the Center for Disease Control and Prevention, and saved over half a million lives in 2002. The multi-component acellular pertussis vaccine, for example, is between 71-85% effective with greater effectiveness for more severe disease.

The duration of protection is between five to ten years. This covers childhood, which is the time of greatest exposure and greatest risk of death from pertussis. For children, the immunizations are commonly given in combination with immunizations against tetanus, diphtheria, polio and haemophilus influenzae type B, at ages two, four, six, and 15–18 months. A single later booster is given at four to six years of age.

A 2011 study by the CDC indicated that the duration of protection may only last three to six years. Dr. Paul Offit, chief of the Director of the Vaccine Education Center at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, comments that the last pertussis vaccination people receive may be their booster at age 11 or 12 years old. However, he states that it is important for adults to have immunity as well, to prevent transmission of the disease to infants.

The pertussis component of the DPT vaccine accounted for most of the minor local and systemic side effects in many vaccinated infants (such as mild fever or soreness at the injection site).

Immunization against pertussis does not confer lifelong immunity. While adults rarely die if they contract pertussis after the effects of their childhood vaccinations have worn off, they may transmit the disease to people at much higher risk of injury or death.

Management

Persons with pertussis are infectious from the beginning of the catarrhal stage (runny nose, sneezing, low-grade fever, symptoms of the common cold) through the third week after the onset of paroxysms (multiple, rapid coughs) or until 5 days after the start of effective antimicrobial treatment.

A reasonable guideline is to treat persons aged 1 year within 3 weeks of cough onset and infants aged 1 year and pregnant women (especially near term) within 6 weeks of cough onset. If the patient is diagnosed late, antibiotics will not alter the course of the illness and, even without antibiotics, the patient should no longer be spreading pertussis. Antibiotics decrease the duration of infectiousness and thus prevent spread.

The antibiotic erythromycin or azithromycin is a front line treatment. Newer macrolides are frequently recommended due to lower rates of side effects. Trimethoprim-sulfamethoxazole may be used in those with allergies to first line agents or in infants who have a risk of pyloric stenosis from macrolides. Effective treatments of the cough associated with this condition have not yet been developed.

Recognizing And Treating A Stroke

What is a STROKE?

A brain stroke is what happens to you when the normal flow of either blood or oxygen to your brain is greatly interrupted.

Stroke damage can range from mild to very serious. This can happen to you as a result of high blood pressure, high cholesterol, a tumor, an accident, poisoning, or a blood vessel bursting inside your brain.

How you feel or how you look after a stroke will depend on how much and what area of your brain was affected.

These are some of the signs or symptoms you might have before a stroke.

- * Unexplained dizziness
- * Not being able to see clearly
- * A strong headache
- * Not being able to think clearly
- * Feeling as if your face is numb
- * Having a sense of heaviness in your tongue or not being able to speak clearly
- * Numbness in your hands or feet
- * Feeling as if ants are walking on your hands or feet
- * Not being able to walk normally

There are other conditions besides a stroke that can cause you to experience some of these same signs and symptoms but if you are experiencing any of these, you must see a medical doctor immediately. He or she will be able to give you emergency medications and direct you to the appropriate specialist.

What to do if any of these signs or symptoms begin suddenly

Tell someone that you must see a medical doctor immediately. Tell that person what you are feeling.

If you are working, dancing or exercising, STOP. Do not force your body.

If you are outside, get in the shade. Do not eat.

Some of the things the doctor will check

- * The way you have been feeling
- * Your blood pressure
- * Your pulse (on your wrist and chest)
- * The way your eyes look
- * Your medical history and the medicines you are taking
- * The way your face looks and how you speak
- * The strength of your hands
- * The way you walk
- * How your tongue works
- * Whether you can concentrate

If your doctor thinks you are having a stroke he might:

- * Put a small tube with oxygen in your nose
- * Draw blood and send it to the laboratory
- * Give you medicines for your blood pressure or to slow down blood clotting
- * Put a needle in your arm in case you need more medicine
- * Send you to a specialist called a Neurologist

Learn about Strokes

Your doctor's actions will depend on what he or she believes is wrong with you.

Questions you or your family should ask the doctor:

- * Did I have a stroke or am I in danger of having one?
- * What is the best thing for me to do right now to prevent a stroke?
- * What is the best thing for me to do right now so that I do not get another stroke?
- * What do you think is wrong?
- * What did the blood test show?
- * What are the names of the medicines?

Make sure you understand what your doctor is telling you. If you don't, ask the doctor to speak to you in words that you understand. Also, have a friend or family member accompany you and tell the doctor to keep that person informed.

If you are sent to the neurologist ask for specific information such as:

- * Is it better for you to go by ambulance?
- * Is the neurologist in his or her office now?
- * Is there a neurologist in the hospital you are being sent to?

Make an appointment to come back and see your doctor to plan follow up care, diet, exercise, and needed medicines.

Keep in mind that small strokes are often followed by big ones and should be taken as warning signals for your body.

At the Neurologist:

If after examining you the neurologist believes that you had a stroke, or are in danger of having one, you will probably be told that you need certain brain tests.

A scan or and MRI will provide the doctor with good pictures of your brain. Scans are available at several places in Belize.

The neurologist will tell you what you must do next. It will be best for you if at that time your family meets with the doctors to find out if the hospital you are being sent to can provide you with the best care there is, or whether that hospital can only give you basic care. Talk about the different treatments options available, whether in Belize or abroad.

Prevention Is Better Than Cure See your medical doctor at least once each year for a thorough physical examination since it is easier to prevent a stroke, or any other sickness, that it is to cure it.

Suspected Whooping Cough In Cayo

BELMOPAN, Cayo, Thursday, September 20, 2012:

A release from the Government Press Office today informed that, on September 3, the Ministry of Health received information of suspected cases of Whooping Cough in the Community of Springfield in the Cayo District and that an immediate investigation was launched.

The release informs that field visits were conducted by multi-disciplinary surveillance teams to identify suspected cases, trace contacts, collect specimen, provide notification and implement preventative measures for the disease.

The release further informs that a total of six cases (five children and one adult) are being followed-up and that a six month child was hospitalized. All six suspects have recovered fully and are in good health.

The Ministry is awaiting results from specimen collected and sent to the Caribbean Epidemiology Center in Trinidad for laboratory confirmation.

The public is informed that the disease, caused by a bacteria, is highly contagious. It causes episodes of violent and uncontrollable coughing which often makes it hard to breathe. A deep "whooping" sound is often heard when the patient tries to breathe.

The disease most commonly affects infants and young children. It can be fatal especially in infants less than a year of age. The infection usually lasts for six weeks.

Whooping Cough vaccines are very effective in providing protection against the disease.

Although vaccinated, few persons can catch the disease but when this happens, it is usually less severe.

The Ministry of Health provides vaccination in a combination of Diphtheria, Tetanus and Whooping Cough. The vaccination is available in all six districts and is administered free of cost to infants at two, four and six months of age and a subsequent dose when the child reaches four years of age.

If any person exhibits signs and symptoms like severe episode of coughing, difficulty breathing with a whooping sound and vomits when coughing, please report to the nearest health facility.

Symptoms of whooping cough usually develops within seven to ten days after exposure and can be transmitted during the flu-like stage and at the beginning of the violent coughing which is within the first two weeks.

San Ignacio Community Hospitals Holds Prayer Service

SAN IGNACIO Town, Thursday, September 2012, 2012:

Members of the San Ignacio Community Hospital, Georgeville Health Center, and the San Antonio Health Post, today held an a prayer service at the San Ignacio Community Hospital in an effort to promote healthy living.

In her welcome address Mrs. Myra Pulido, Deputy (Western) Regional Health Manager stressed on the importance of having professional health care providers, referring them heroes. She complimented all health care provides who were present at the service for going beyond the call of duty and obligation to be the best health care provider possible.

The welcome address delivered by Mrs. Pulido, follows:

A very pleasant good morning colleagues and invited guests. Welcome to our Staff Prayer Service Day.

Today is a commemorative day for all who work here at the San Ignacio Community Hospital, the Georgeville Health Center, MPC and at the San Antonio Health Post.

You wonderful healthcare providers, many of you are heroes, going beyond the call of duty and obligation to be the best healthcare provider possible. Thank you for doing your best.

We are gathered here to note that we responsibly take care of our physical health and the physical health of patients; we take care of our mental health, and the mental health of our patients.

Indeed, sitting here today are knowledgeable and skilled physical and mental healthcare practitioners. However, too often we forget, perhaps the most important component of the human aspect- the spiritual aspect.

Many physical and mental ailments stem from a spiritual deficit. A wise person once said: “I am a spiritual being having a physical experience, not a physical being trying to have a spiritual experience”.

We are all like three legged stools that stands firmly on the three legs of physical, mental and spiritual health. The stool will no longer be able to stand if one of the legs is faulty or deficient.

It is with this thought in mind that we are gathered here to pray for each other, and to encourage each other to take care of our spiritual health, to visit the church or denomination of our choice, and to keep or reaffirm our connection with something, someone greater than us. This something, someone greater than us, this higher power, has many names. The Muslims call him Allah, the Hindus call her Shiva, the Jews call him Adoni and we Christians call him Jesus, Jehovah, or God.

Let us pray to the God of our faith, even if we are of little faith, or even if we have lost our faith. If we have lost faith, then let us pray for faith to believe more, or to believe once again.

Welcome to our Staff Prayer Service Day. Thank you. God Bless us all!

Prayer For Unity And Peace

“Heavenly Father, we come to Your Paternal
Heart seeking peace amongst all people and all nations. Bring into harmony with Your Divine
Will all human life, all of nature.
“Protect all of creation from Satan’s destructive plans.
We know that war must be in hearts before it is in the world. Inspire all mankind, dear Father, to choose love of God and neighbor, which leads to true peace, for we know this is Your Will for us.
I choose with my free will to love
God above all else, and my neighbor as myself. I choose this—Holy Love in the present moment—and seek God’s help in doing so in every future moment. In Jesus’ name I pray.

Amen.

Prayer of St. Francis of Assisi, delivered by Mrs. Myra Pulido

Lord, make me an instrument of your peace.
Where there is hatred, let me sow
love;
Where there is injury, pardon;
Where there is doubt, faith;
Where there is despair, hope;
Where there is darkness, light; and where there is sadness, joy.
O Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled
as to console;
to be understood as to understand;
to be loved as to love.
For it is ingiving that we receive;
it is in pardoning that we are pardoned;
and it is in dying that we are born to eternal life.
Amen.

Prisioner Of War Wins Big

Jacob, a Jewish immigrant, won the quarter million Fantasy Five Jackpot. After collecting the fat cheque, he invited family and friends over for a big party.

The food was plenty and the wine was flowing abundantly. In the heights of the party Jacob stands up to thank everyone.

“First I must thank my beautiful wife for her help and support, then my children for their love and understanding, and the people at Fantasy Five and finally, I would like to thank Adolf Hitler.”

Suddenly the room went totally silent as he took off his shirt and showed the prisoner number tatooed on his forearm - “for the winning numbers” he concluded.

Mary Has A $$Change$$ Of Heart

“Dear John,
I'm sorry I broke off our engagement. I miss you terribly and regret my decision. Please, please take me back.

Love You Always and Forever Mary”

PS. Congratulations on winning the 20 Million-Dollar Lotto.

10 Light Ways To Look At Marriage

1. At the cocktail party, one woman asked another, “Aren't you wearing your wedding ring on the wrong finger?”

The other replied, “Yes I am, I married the wrong man.”

2. A little boy asked his father, “Daddy, how much does it cost to get married?”

The father replied, “I don't know, son, I'm still paying for it.”

3. Young Son: “Is it true, Dad, I heard that in some parts of Africa and India a man doesn't know his wife until he marries her?

Dad: “That happens in most countries, son.”

4. Married life is very frustrating. In the first year of marriage, the man speaks and the woman listens. In the second year, the woman speaks and the man listens. In the third year, they both speak and the neighbors listen.

5. A man inserted an ‘ad’ in the STAR: “Wife wanted”. Next day he received over a hundred letters. They all said the same thing: “You can have mine.”

6. After a quarrel, a wife said to her husband, “You know, I was a fool when I married you.”

The husband replied, “Yes, dear, I know, but I was too in love and didn't even notice it.”

7. When a man opens the door of his car for his wife, you can be sure of one thing: either the car or the wife is new.

Little Johnny Knows His Numbers

“Johnny do you know your numbers?” the teacher asked.

“Yes,” replied little Johnny. “My Dad taught me.”

“Good!” exclaimed the teacher. “Can you tell me what comes after three?”

“Four,” answers little Johnny.

8. How do most men define marriage? A very expensive way to get your laundry done free.

9. When a man steals your wife, there is no better revenge than to let him keep her.

10. Eighty percent of married men cheat in Belize. The other 20% cheat in Melchor.

“And what comes after six?” asked the teacher.

“Seven.”

“Very good,” says the teacher.

“Your father did a good job. What comes after ten?”

“A jack,” responded little Johnny.
