Tut's Death Ruled As Suicide

CRISTO REY VILLAGE, CAYO, Sunday, November 25, 2012:

The passing of Reyes Martin Tut from Cristo Rey Village, Cayo, has left the grieving family asking what on earth could have prompted him to end his life and to have done so in such a vicious manner.

The blood stained grass and pieces of a broken soda bottle are all that remains on the scene where Reyes Martin Tut, 36, Belizean laborer of Cristo Rey Village made the ultimate decision to violently end his life.

Acting upon information received at around 2:00 pm on Sunday, November 25, 2012, a team of policemen rushed to the Loma Luz Hospital in Santa Elena Town where they were directed to the lifeless body of a male person identified, by a member of the family, as Reyes Martin Tut. An inspection of the body revealed two cut wounds, one to the chin and the other a slash across the throat.

The initial investigation revealed that the deceased began acting strangely during the early hours on Sunday morning. He reportedly told the family that there were bad spirits in his room and that the devil was pinching him.

At about midday on Sunday, November 25, 2012, Tut reportedly went to a store in the village and was heard shouting in an irate manner that he was looking for EMO, so that EMO could take his life. Shortly thereafter he was found, bleeding and grasping for air, about 200 yards from his uncle's resort in Cristo Rey village and about 150 yards from the banks of the Macal River.

The Deceased, Reyes Martin Tut, 36
Sunrise: January 6, 1976
Sunset: Nov. 25, 2012

The report indicates that it was shortly after 1 o'clock that Sunday afternoon when a friend of the Tut family, Estevan Juarez, was returning to work after the lunch hour and as he was walking through a trail near the resort, he heard the sound of someone gasping for air. Upon investigating the source of the sound, he reportedly came upon Reyes Martin Tut on the ground bleeding.

Without touching the bleeding man, Juarez reportedly ran to the resort and returned with help. The blood drenched man was lifted and placed inside an Izuzu Rodeo SUV and rushed to the Loma Luz Hospital where, on arrival, he was officially pronounced dead.

The autopsy, conducted by Forensic Specialist Dr Mario Estradabran, at the Karl Heusner Memorial Hospital in Belize City, certified the cause of death as Traumatic Asphyxiation, Trachea Injury, Slashing Wound. Dr. Estradabran further certified that the injuries were self-inflicted.

Reyes Martin Tut was buried in his home village, Cristo Rey, following a solemn 2 pm church service at the Rosa de Saron Pentecostal Church in Cristo Rey Village, on Wednesday, November 25, 2012. He is predeceased by his mother while leaving to mourn his father Felipe Tut, two brothers, one sister, a son, several nieces and nephews, countless other relatives and friends. May his soul now rest in peace.

Henry and the two bags were transported to the police station in San Ignacio where the contents from both bags were weighed. The first amount tipped the scale at four and a half pounds while the other one weighed in at four pounds for a combined total of 8.5 pounds of suspected marijuana.

The discovery led to the arresting and formal charging of the accused Nancy Henry, 21, Belizean bartender of a Benque Veijo Road address in San Ignacio, on two counts of drug trafficking.

She appeared in the San Ignacio Town courtroom of Magistrate Narda Morgan on Monday, October 26, 2012 where she pled not guilty to both charges. She was not offered bail and instead was remanded to prison while the case was adjourned to Tuesday, February 5, 2013.

Police continues the search for Luis Flores against whom they intend to press similar charges.

Just as the team of policemen were approaching the residence, they reportedly saw Flores as he ran behind the house disappearing into nearby bushes.

A policeman's knock on the main entrance door to the house was reportedly answered by a female who told the police that she was Flores' girlfriend, Nancy Henry. Although not needed in the search of marijuana, the police nonetheless proceeded to read to her the search warrant. She offered no resistance to the search at the end of which nothing incriminating was found.

After the house search she was asked to accompany the police on a search of the yard where, in her presence the police came upon a black plastic bag under a 40 feet container located a mere five feet from the house. A further search of the yard led to the discovery of another black plastic bag also containing suspected marijuana.

Bringing Smiles To Arenal Children

Saint Ignatius Thrid Form Students And Faculty Members With Gifts In Hand Just Before Heading To Arenal Village
ST IGNATIUS HIGHSCHOOL, SANTA ELENA, Wednesday 28, November, 2012:

Bearing Christmas gifts for less privileged children attending La Inmaculada Roman Catholic Primary School, a group of third form students from St. Ignatius High school in Santa Elena boarded a bus this Wednesday afternoon for the ride to Arenal Village on the western border with Guatemala near Benque Viejo Town.

The aim of involving these third form students in community service activities is to ensure they develop new relationships, gain important experiences from helping others and draw upon or discover unused talents which they may not even realize they had.

Due to the importance and many benefits of the community service projects being undertaken by the school, the faculty at St. Ignatius High School requires that their students actively participate in the community service program as part of the graduation requirement.

In this year's community service program, students from third form were engaged in a massive toy and gift drive. The community service committee had seen the need to reach out to a school that is in much need of help in the Cayo District. As such La Inmaculada R.C School in Arenal was chosen to be the first recipients of the much deserved gifts from the students of St. Ignatius High School.

This year as one teacher mentioned, the tasked at hand is to bring smiles to the faces of the children at the school by aiding them with school supplies, clothing, footwear, toys and of course treats for each of the 180 students currently enrolled at the school.

St. Ignatius High School prides itself in molding students in the Catholic faith and as such, in the pursuit of academic excellence, they are required to demonstrate a global perspective and community responsibility.

The faculty at St. Ignatius High School strongly believes that by engaging students in community service experiences, students may cultivate a sense of civic virtue; a concept of what responsibilities are inherent to citizenship in a democratic society.

If you were approached this year by students of St. Ignatius High School and missed out on the opportunity of lending a helping hand, then keep in mind that the community service obligation is an annual feature at St. Ignatius High School.

The faculty and students of St. Ignatius High School extends a heartfelt thank you to everyone who contributed to this year's event which brought huge smiles to the faces of well deserving children from the village of Arenal, Cayo of which includes; St. Martin's Credit Union, Scotia Bank, Chens Supermarket, Highway Supermarket, Tai San Super Store, STAR Newspaper & Social Security Belmopan

Your Weekly Horoscope and Lucky Numbers

ARIES:

March 22 to April 20

A charismatic person might visit you this week and want your help with something. Emotional issues regarding family might have you feeling gloomy. Your creative side may have to lie fallow while you attend to mundane issues. Basically, you feel pretty optimistic about your life and future. You are never afraid of hard work, and you're persevering. Go for what you want and make everyone happy, including you! Lucky numbers: 30, 53, 79.

TAURUS:

April 21 to May 21

Worries about relatives or friends could plague you throughout the week. Perhaps you aren't sure what is wrong and so you feel helpless. Whatever vague worries you may have, don't try to figure out the truth without knowing the facts. You could make mountains out of molehills. This isn't a good day to run errands. Delays and obstacles could cause a lot of frustration and wasted time. Lucky numbers: 09, 36, 91.

GEMINI:

May 22 to June 21

Group functions and social events might not prove as satisfying as usual this week. You may not be in the mood. You might feel pressured to mingle when you'd rather sit on the couch. Whatever conversations you get into will seem trivial and boring. This is a good day to sit back and listen. You might learn from the people around you without having to say a word. Lucky numbers: 17, 44, 65.

CANCER:

June 22 to July 23

Pride might get in your way this week. Perhaps you will be asked to do a task that you consider beneath you. Perhaps the people around you are feeling persnickety. Rise above the insults and make a special effort to do the best you can, defusing the situation before it gets out of hand.

This week enjoy an evening watching a movie. Lucky numbers: 23, 50, 85.

LEO:

July 24 to August 21

Your imagination might conjure stories or pictures that you want to memorialize through writing or painting, but a lack of self-confidence might discourage you. However, it's probably a good idea to do it anyway. These ideas come from deep inside you. Giving them shape could represent a release from old traumas. Keep your work hidden in a drawer if you don't like it. Lucky numbers: 13, 47, 77.

VIRGO:

August 22 to September 21

Attendance at some kind of group event might seem especially appealing today. However, worries about your family might distract you so that you don't benefit from it the way you should. You also might find some of the conversation boring. Despite your lack of enthusiasm, it might be a good idea to get out anyway. Staying home alone could make for a gloomy evening. Lucky numbers: 04, 31, 89.

LIBRA:

September 22 to October 23

Let's face it. This week you are likely to find your chores and errands exceedingly boring. You could find yourself watching the clock, feeling like an hour has gone by and then realizing it's only been ten minutes. If you can put off your tasks until tomorrow, by all means do so. Nothing is so urgent that it requires your undivided attention all week. Treat yourself to a fun afternoon. Lucky numbers: 27, 68, 95.

SCORPIO:

October 24 to November 21

You might be distracted by daydreams of a trip you're planning to take. A friend could phone and want to discuss it, which doesn't help. Visions of faraway places and exciting pastimes may dance in your head, and routine tasks seem incredibly tedious and unworthy of attention. It is best to get them done if you can. Then you can fantasize about your vacation without guilt! Lucky numbers: 15, 59, 83.

SAGITTARIUS:

November 22 to December 21

You might not have heard from a close friend in a long time and worry a little. Perhaps this person wasn't well the last time you talked. If you can, it might be a good idea to call. Strange and unsettling dreams could plague your sleep tonight, but don't get too agitated. They aren't prophetic in any way. The symbols probably represent nothing more than psychic detritus released through sleep. Lucky numbers: 19, 32, 73.

CAPRICORN:

December 22 to January 20

An older visitor might come to your door this week. You aren't likely to be too thrilled about this, but you will be able to play the good host anyway. Romance and sociability may be a bit limited by obligations to family, particularly parents, but don't let it get you down. You may be stuck at home tonight, but you will be able to let loose later. Lucky numbers: 07, 39, 66.

AQUARIUS:

January 21 to February 19

Mundane tasks, including errands and answering correspondence, might bore you this week. You are likely to be restless and strongly tempted to chuck it all and go somewhere to enjoy yourself. Take a good look at what you are doing and try to judge objectively how important it is to get it done now. If it isn't that important, then put it aside. You probably need to relax! Lucky numbers: 02, 26, 57.

PISCES:

February 20 to March 21

Financial issues may interfere with your self-expression this week. Perhaps you need a little more money before proceeding with a project that means a lot to you. You usually aren't one to let this kind of consideration stop you, though. Just a little bit of thought and planning could make whatever it is you want to do more feasible than it appears to be. Write down some ideas and go to it! Lucky numbers: 22, 70, 93.

Local Psychic

A woman goes to the local psychic in hopes of contacting her dearly departed grandmother. The psychic's eyelids begin fluttering, her hands float up above the table, and she begins moaning. Eventually, a coherent voice emanates saying, "Granddaughter? Are you there?"

The woman, wide-eyed and on the edge of her seat, responds, "Grandmother? Is that you?"

"Yes granddaughter, it's me."

"It's really, really you, grandmother?" the woman repeats.

"Yes, it's really me, granddaughter."

The woman looks puzzled, "You're sure it's you, grandmother?"

"Yes, granddaughter, I'm sure it's me."

The woman pauses a moment, "Grandmother, I have just one question for you."

"Anything, my child."

"Grandmother, when did you learn to speak English?"

Food For Later

Two senior citizens from the old folks home went to breakfast at a nice restaurant in San Ignacio where the "seniors' special" was two eggs, bacon, potatoes and toast for $1.99.

"Sounds good," the wife said. "But I don't want the eggs."

"Then I'll have to charge you two dollars and forty-nine cents because you're ordering a la carte," the young waitress warned her.

"You mean I'd have to pay for not taking the eggs?" The senior wife asked incredulously. "In That case I better take the special."

"How do you want your eggs?"

"Raw and in the shell," the wife replied. She made sure to take the eggs home for dinner.

Mexican President-Elect Pena Nieto Meets Obama

The Mexican president-elect, Enrique Pena Nieto, has told US President Barack Obama during talks at the White House that his main goal on taking office will be reducing violence.

Mr Pena Nieto, who takes office on Saturday, is expected to revise Mexico's war on the drug cartels.

It has cost more than 50,000 lives since it was launched six years ago.

President Obama complimented Mr Pena Nieto on what he described as an "ambitious reform agenda".

"What happens in Mexico has an impact on our society," he told Mr Pena Nieto.

He said he expected to build on the good relationship he had with outgoing President Felipe Calderon.

Mr Obama, who will be represented by Vice-President Joe Biden at the inauguration ceremony in Mexico City, joked and said he was "jealous".

Immigration reform

Immigration was also one of the main issues discussed by the two leaders.

Mexican immigrants or American citizens of Mexican descent account for about 70% of the Latino community in the US, estimated at 50 million people.

Mr Obama said he would pursue immigration reform legislation in his second term at the White House.

"We fully support your proposal," Mr Pena Nieto said, adding that his government was willing to co-operate in efforts to reduce illegal migration into the US.

"We want to contribute. We want to be part of this."

President Obama by-passed Congress and introduced in June a programme allowing undocumented immigrants to apply for temporary right to work and live in the United States.

Most of the estimated 11.5 million undocumented immigrants in the US are from Latin America.

TeachYour Children About The Gift Of Giving

Helping others arms your children with rewards and skills that will last long after the holiday season has faded. Here's how.

We all know that kids love getting presents at the holidays, but what truly makes the season special is the genuine sense of goodwill all around them. That's why now is the best time to show a child how to spread that warmth by helping others. Yes, it's great for the needy, but it's even better for your kid. Children love being helpful (it makes them feel grown-up), and volunteering "gives them the chance to experience the deeply rewarding payoff that comes from making someone else happy," says Deborah Spaide, author of Teaching Your Kids to Care.

When Your Child Gives, He Gets...

Courage to initiate change.

When a child improves someone else's life, he sees that he can change the world around him -- and even himself -- for the better, says Cathryn Berger Kaye, author of The Complete Guide to Service Learning.

Compassion for all beings. Helping people in need lets kids flex their caring instincts. Same goes for working with animals. "The kindness, understanding and patience that kids learn in caring for pets segues to gentleness with peers," says Charlotte LeFrank, program coordinator at the Child Abuse Prevention Council in Windsor, Ontario.

Enthusiasm for teamwork. Working with others toward a common goal shows kids that sharing responsibility can have a bigger impact than going it alone. Take 7-year-old Natalie Antupit of Seattle. To aid tsunami victims, she spearheaded a fundraising bake sale at her school. "I liked working with my friends, and it was easier with people helping," she says. "It made me feel really good to help people I didn't know."

Powerful pride. Volunteering is a win-win experience for kids: Every little bit they do helps, and that, in turn, is a great self-esteem booster. "Realizing they did something to make someone else smile is priceless," says Spaide. "You can't match that feeling."

President Obama's Official World AIDS Day 2012 Proclamation

President Obama echoed Sec. of State Hillary Clinton's earlier stated goal of obtaining an HIV-free generation in an official proclamation for World AIDS Day on Saturday.

Today, we reflect on the strides we have taken toward overcoming HIV/AIDS, honor those who have made our progress possible, and keep in our thoughts all those who have known the devastating consequences of this illness. The road toward an AIDS-free generation is long -- but as we mark this important observance, let us also remember that if we move forward every day with the same passion, persistence, and drive that has brought us this far, we can reach our goal. We can beat this disease. On World AIDS Day, in memory of those no longer with us and in solidarity with all who carry on the fight, let us pledge to make that vision a reality.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, BARACK OBAMA, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and the laws of the United States do hereby proclaim December 1, 2012, as World AIDS Day. I urge the Governors of the States and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, officials of the other territories subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, and the American people to join me in appropriate activities to remember those who have lost their lives to AIDS and to provide support and comfort to those living with this disease.

On World AIDS Day, more than 30 years after the first cases of this tragic illness were reported, we join the global community once more in standing with the millions of people who live with HIV/AIDS worldwide. We also recommit to preventing the spread of this disease, fighting the stigma associated with infection, and ending this pandemic once and for all.

In 2010, my Administration released the National HIV/AIDS

President Barack Obama Delivering His Proclamation Address

Strategy, our Nation's first comprehensive plan to fight the domestic epidemic. The Strategy aims to reduce new infections, increase access to care, reduce health disparities, and achieve a more coordinated national response to HIV/AIDS here in the United States. To meet these goals, we are advancing HIV/AIDS education; connecting stakeholders throughout the public, private, and non-profit sectors; and investing in promising research that can improve clinical outcomes and reduce the risk of transmission. Moving forward, we must continue to focus on populations with the highest HIV disparities -- including gay men, and African American and Latino communities -- and scale up effective, evidence-based interventions to prevent and treat HIV. We are also implementing the Affordable Care Act, which has expanded access to HIV testing and will ensure that all Americans, including those living with HIV/AIDS, have access to health insurance beginning in 2014.

These actions are bringing us closer to an AIDS-free generation at home and abroad -- a goal that, while ambitious, is within sight. Through the President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief (PEPFAR), we are on track to meet the HIV prevention and treatment targets I set last year. We are working with partners at home and abroad to reduce new infections in adults, help people with HIV/AIDS live longer, prevent mother-to-child transmission, and support the global effort to eliminate new infections in children by 2015. And thanks to bipartisan action to lift the entry ban on persons living with HIV, we were proud to welcome leaders from around the world to the 19th International AIDS Conference in Washington, D.C.

Creating an AIDS-free generation is a shared responsibility. It requires commitment from partner countries, coupled with support from donors, civil society, people living with HIV, faith-based organizations, the private sector, foundations, and multilateral institutions. We stand at a tipping point in the fight against HIV/AIDS, and working together, we can realize our historic opportunity to bring that fight to an end.

Today, we reflect on the strides we have taken toward overcoming HIV/AIDS, honor those who have made our progress possible, and keep in our thoughts all those who have known the devastating consequences of this illness. The road toward an AIDS-free generation is long -- but as we mark this important observance, let us also remember that if we move forward every day with the same passion, persistence, and drive that has brought us this far, we can reach our goal. We can beat this disease. On World AIDS Day, in memory of those no longer with us and in solidarity with all who carry on the fight, let us pledge to make that vision a reality.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, BARACK OBAMA, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and the laws of the United States do hereby proclaim December 1, 2012, as World AIDS Day. I urge the Governors of the States and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, officials of the other territories subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, and the American people to join me in appropriate activities to remember those who have lost their lives to AIDS and to provide support and comfort to those living with this disease.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set twenty-ninth day of November, in the year of two thousand twelve, and of the Independence United States of America the two hundred and my hand this our Lord of the thirty-seventh.
