

The PUP Is Bad For Belize

Writing with the firm belief that Belizeans are conscious, informed and unwaveringly committed to improving the national standard of living as the nation's infrastructure is undergoing unprecedented development; we will save the details of the latest display of blatant selfishness by the leadership of the opposition People's United Party (PUP).

The Petro Caribe Agreement between Belize and the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela came into existence under the Musa/Fonseca government during the latter part of 2006. The delivery of fuel from Venezuela, under the agreement caught the PUP government totally unprepared in 2007. It was a fiasco. When the first shipment arrived the government had no storage facility. The product remained in the harbor for several days costing taxpayers around 15 thousand dollars per day. It was a nightmare until Shell Belize Limited was eventually threatened to provide its facility to store the produce.

The fuel temporarily and reluctantly stored by Shell Belize Limited was eventually sold off to southern interests. This private PUP arrangement continued until April 2009, a full 13 months into the new United Democratic Party (UDP) Government until an evaluation and investigation by Venezuelan officials rapidly concluded that the arrangement was not serving its intended purpose as the profits was serving "private interests" and not that of the people of Belize.

The arrangement was halted by the Venezuelans. It took three years for the UDP Government, in its second term in office, to put the infrastructure and mechanism in place for the resumption of the agreement. Petro Caribe was restarted in 2012 and the true beneficiaries, the Belizean people began reaping the benefits as intended by the now deceased visionary Venezuelan President, Hugo Cesar Chavez Frias.

The Dean Barrow UDP Government, with proceeds from the Petro Caribe arrangement, via unending public announcements, began several social programs benefitting thousands of Belizeans. The National Bank of Belize was started with Petro Caribe funds. The unprecedented development taking place across the nation is funded by Petro Caribe. Thousands of new jobs have been created. More businesses are benefiting from the ramped up infrastructural projects taking place all across the country.

In his Thursday evening press conference Prime Minister Dean Barrow proudly announced that Petro Caribe funds will be used to complete the construction of the Coast Guard forward operation base at Hunting Caye to the tune of 1.5 million dollars. He additionally announced that 4.5 million dollars will be expended for the acquisition of two refurbished helicopters for the Belize Defense Force to better patrol our western border with Guatemala.

The Petro Caribe funds is making things happened in Belize. The PUP has nothing to show from the proceeds of this arrangement during their term in office. Their chances of ever regaining the political power in Belize dwindle as development and social programs intensify under the UDP Government.

For the opposition PUP to stand, even the ghost of a chance at regaining political power in Belize, the Petro Caribe Arrangement must be halted and so they have selfishly embarked on this destructive mission. Life must be made hard for the people of Belize. All the jobs must come to an end. The social programs must be halted. The infrastructural development must be stopped, says the leadership of the opposition

PUP.

The leadership of the PUP has filed a law suit against Prime Minister Dean Barrow and the Government of Belize, requesting an injunction to the halt of the Petro Caribe arrangement. Government describes the PUP action as an abuse of process. Will any of our learned Judges grant such injunction?

We trust that when the national trumpet calls, Belizeans will answer to the call in massive demonstration and support for the development, the social programs and increasing the standard of living of all Belizeans. Get ready Belize. The national trumpet will soon sound across the land. Answer the call. Your country needs you. Show the opposition that the PUP is bad for Belize.

"Courage doesn't always roar. Sometimes Courage is the little voice at the end of the day that says I'll try again tomorrow."

Incomplete Case File - Attempt Murder Charge Dismissed

SAN IGNACIO, Cayo, Wednesday, October 29, 2014:

"For want of prosecution." says the presiding magistrate, an attempt murder charge goes down the drain.

The incident occurred over 19 month ago in Santa Familia Village, Cayo. At around 11:15 pm on Saturday, March 16, 2013, San Ignacio police responded to a call from the San Ignacio Community Hospital regarding a male patient undergoing emergency medical treatment for chop wounds to the left side of the head as well as to the middle, ring and small fingers of the right hand.

Police investigations revealed that the patient, identified as Kent Rivera, 22, Belizean laborer from Santa Familia Village, was socializing at a Chinese restaurant in the village when an altercation erupted between Rivera and a male Hispanic person identified by Rivera as Cain "Chino" Quewell. Rivera told the police that after Quewell chopped him he fled the scene and disappeared into the darkness. Quewell remained at large about six weeks until he was arrested and charged on May 2, 2013.

After several adjournments granted at the request of the prosecution to complete the case file, magistrate Narda Morgan today dismissed the attempt murder charge against the accused Cain Quewell "For want of prosecution" she said resulting from a still incomplete case file.

Dear Editor;

Recent developments at Sacred Heart College in San Ignacio has many asking ourselves and others: "Is Sacred Heart College engaged in religious discrimination?"

While all forms of discrimination is explicitly prohibited by the education rules, a recent incident at Sacred Heart College, San Ignacio, smells of the practice of religious discrimination.

A few months ago the President of the college, Dr. Eve Aird tendered her resignation to move on to greener pastures. The post became vacant and was advertised internally. An application, submitted by the serving Academic Vice Principal, Mr. Karim Juan, was the only sent, as requested, to the Board of Directors, in conformity with the deadline.

Neither acknowledging receipt of his application nor being invited for an interview, Mr. Juan desire to take up the post was ignored. The post has since been filled by an individual suspected to be arbitrarily selected by the Board of Directors of the college.

In the wake of this somewhat unethical and seemingly unprofessional turn of events, it has come to our attention that Mr. Juan was bypassed because he is not a Catholic confirmed by the fact that the individual now holding the post is a Catholic.

Mr. Juan's competence is unquestionable. He has been instrumental in all major developments at Sacred Heart College. No one cared that he was not a Catholic when he was working around the clock to bring to reality the long held dream of the institution for the construction of an auditorium. No one cared that he was not a Catholic as he spends long hours at the school to improve efficiency and the delivery of services.

Is the Board of Directors not aware of the existence of a Teaching Services Commission which exercises zero tolerance for all forms of discrimination?

Having the long held dream for professional advancement is Mr. Karim Juan, a young, energetic, dynamic, dedicated, experienced and proven professional leader, the victim of religious discrimination? While he might be a Catholic, Mr. Juan is a Christian in every sense of the word.

Given that it is never late to right a wrong, we are hoping and praying, with malice towards none, for the Board of Directors to reconsider its position and to appoint Mr. Karim Juan as the President of the educational institution he continues to serve with dedication, loyalty and honesty.

I am confident that these sentiments are shared by the majority of parents, faculty, staff and students of Sacred Heart College.

Please withhold my name.

★ STAR HUMOR

Ten Million Dollars

Jack's grandfather left him ten million dollars, and the next week Diane agreed to marry him.

After three months of married life, Jack noticed that his beautiful new wife was ignoring him more and more.

Whenever they went out in public, she ignored him and flirted with other men. Finally, he decided to confront her.

"Diane," he said, "was the only reason you married me was because my grandfather left me ten million dollars when he died?"

"Don't be ridiculous," she replied, "I don't care who gave you the money!"

Dust to Dust

A little boy had just got home from Sunday School and mom was cooking lunch. "Mommy, is it true that before you're born you're just dust and after you die you go back to being dust?"

"That's right son, why?"

"Well that's just what they said at church today."

"Run up stairs and wash your hands son, lunch will be ready in a few minutes."

About 10 minutes went by and she called out for him to come down.

"I'll be there in a minute" he shouted.

As they were about to sit down at the table, the little boy asked again about being dust before being born and after you die.

Once again mother said, "yes son."

The little boy looked at her and said, "then you better get up to my room pretty quick, because something under my bed is either coming or going!!"

Not Quite What He Wanted

A hunter raised his rifle and took careful aim at a large bear. When about to pull the trigger, the bear spoke in a soft soothing voice, "Isn't it better to talk than to shoot? What do you want? Let's negotiate the matter."

Lowering his rifle, the hunter replied, "I want a fur coat."

"Good," said the bear, "that is a negotiable item. I only want a full stomach, so let us sit down and negotiate a compromise."

They sat down to negotiate and after a time the bear walked away, alone. The negotiations had been successful.

The bear had a full stomach, and the hunter had his fur coat!

Prison vs. Work

In prison, you spend a majority of time in an 8x10 cell. At work you spend most of your time in an 8x10 cubicle.

In prison you get three meals a day. At work, you only get a break for one meal and you have to pay for that one.

In prison you get time off for good behavior. At work you get rewarded for good behavior with more work.

In prison you can watch tv and play games. At work you get fired for watching tv and playing games.

At work you must carry a security card to unlock and open all the doors yourself. In prison, a guard locks and unlocks all the doors for you.

In prison you get your own toilet. At work you have to share.

In prison they let your family and friends to come and visit. At work you're not even supposed to speak to your family and friends.

In prison all expenses are paid by taxpayers with no work required. At work you get to pay all the expenses to go to work and they deduct taxes from your salary to pay for prisoners.

At prison there are sadistic wardens. At work you have managers.

Life as a Female Bear

If you're a bear, you get to hibernate. You do nothing but sleep for six months. "I could deal with that."

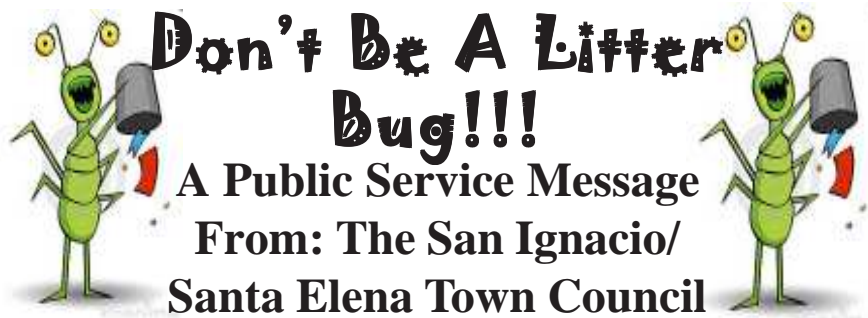

Before you hibernate, you're supposed to eat yourself stupid. "I could deal with that, too."

If you're a mama bear, everyone knows you mean business. You swat anyone who bothers your cubs. If your cubs get out of line, you swat them too. "I could deal with that."

If you're a female bear, your mate EXPECTS you to wake up growling. He EXPECTS that you will have hairy legs and excess body fat.

"I wanna be a bear!"

Your Weekly Horoscope and Lucky Numbers

ARIES:

March 22 to April 20

You are in the early stage of renewal on Monday, and it is uncomfortable and slow going. As early as Tuesday, you'll feel a lot sprightlier. On Wednesday, bound out of bed early and be the first person in to work. Thursday and Friday find you flexing your muscles, getting things done and polishing your reputation. What you do is almost as important as how you do it. Saturday and Sunday, deliriously happy about your recent successes, you will want to get out a long strip of butcher paper and map out the rest of your life. Lucky numbers: 19, 23, 47.

TAURUS:

April 21 to May 21

The intensity of what you're going through speaks volumes about how much this person means to you. You don't necessarily want to publicize how you feel, but people can see it written on your face; talking about it may be a better strategy than pretending to ignore it. A philosophical conversation with an acquaintance on Wednesday will be more useful than you ever expected, and Thursday and Friday find you grounded, curious and happy. And in the mood to travel. You could use a vacation. Get through the weekend — of power struggles and weird interactions — dreaming of sandy beaches. Lucky numbers: 07, 49, 57.

GEMINI:

May 22 to June 21

Life is laid out like a math problem for you on Monday, and you spend the day trying to determine which are the relevant variables. This calculating mindset cuts through everything else and will be helpful on Tuesday and Wednesday as well, during a deep, intelligent dialogue with your most brilliant friend (as many insights as you have, preaching is not going to work). Thursday and Friday, your interactions with others are more difficult than usual, especially interactions related to business. Saturday and Sunday, you are submerged in big ideas. Lucky numbers: 38, 66, 73.

CANCER

June 21 to July 21

It's as if you're on a ship in a storm: One minute there's a chair sitting next to you; the next minute it's all the way across the room. With everything slipping and sliding, Monday isn't the time to get involved with anything long-term and binding. Wait until things settle and you know exactly what you're working with. Tuesday and Wednesday, do something rejuvenating (a trip to the spa? a swim?) and Thursday and Friday, don't worry about doing very little (what's on TV?). Saturday and Sunday offer plenty of opportunities to see friends. Just be careful you don't get into a spat over money. Lucky numbers: 01, 14, 21.

LEO:

July 24 to August 21

A beautiful antique makes its way into your life on Monday — or maybe it's something else you've been collecting. In any case, Monday is like that: rewarding, slightly self-centered, not super energetic. Then, Tuesday, a comet of love crashes into Earth and the scorching fires of romantic bliss burn brightly through Wednesday night. By Thursday morning, the fires will have died out and you'll be returned to everyday terrain, albeit with a few members glowing in the corners. Friday, you are preoccupied by others, but this weekend your mind returns to the topic of love. Lucky numbers: 02, 17, 29.

VIRGO:

August 22 to September 21

Everyone has different ways of getting through the day, and different ways of seeing things. You are interested in someone else's perspective on Monday, but that doesn't necessarily mean you'll agree with them. Tuesday and Wednesday, your vim and vigor is no match for the inactivity everywhere else, which drags you down a bit, at least until Thursday. Thursday and Friday are bright days filled with hot air balloons and sweet romance. Be open-minded this weekend and you'll learn a fantastic and effortless new way of doing something that's always been a pain in the neck. Lucky numbers: 76, 85, 98.

LIBRA:

September 22 to October 23

Being good with your money is not just about being selfish, it's also about being smart. Nevertheless, Monday's financial dealings get you thinking about values — not a bad thing to be thinking about. Tuesday and Wednesday are about feelings and expression; your current projects are challenging you in ways you didn't expect. Thursday, you wake up feeling weird for no discernable reason, and Friday finds you feeling nostalgic about nothing in particular. The weekend offers focus, romance and fun. You and you-know-who are clearly going to take over the world. Lucky numbers: 79, 82, 95.

SCORPIO:

October 24 to November 21

You are the sun and your friends are the planets; you are their center of gravity. You'd have it no other way: It's incredibly flattering to be depended upon by so many people who are fabulous in their own right. Tuesday and Wednesday are defined by philosophical questions and the likelihood of being led along by others — you might find yourself buying something you have little use for — but Thursday and Friday, you are shrewd, determined and in control. Less can be said for this weekend. There is tension at home, and something someone says may spark an unexpected outburst. But look on the bright side: At least it will clear the air. Lucky numbers: 27, 34, 44.

SAGITTARIUS:

November 22 to December 21

You're in deep processing mode on Monday, and you might feel like being alone. Your subconscious is on overdrive right now, trying to reconcile your internal picture with the big picture outside of you. Your friends may be of some help in sorting all this out on Tuesday and Wednesday — an exploration of some kind is perfect for the group's energy — and Thursday and Friday, putting your eyeballs in front of some art is a fine idea. Stimulation is good. Original thinking is good. Saturday and Sunday, you talk so much — to friends, to strangers, to yourself even — that your jaw hurts. Lucky numbers: 06, 11, 30.

CAPRICORN:

December 22 to January 20

Getting organized is the first step. You are in the right mindset to make some long-term decisions on Monday, but you want to make sure all your ducks are in a row. (Your ducks may not be as orderly as they appear.) Tuesday and Wednesday, discipline is key. You may have sudden pangs of worry that what you thought was possible isn't possible. Pish posh! Ridiculous! You can do anything, as Thursday and Friday attest. Your accomplishments by week's end are impressive, but you've only just begun. This weekend, you clear off the kitchen table and set to work on a number of new plans. Lucky numbers: 52, 71, 88.

AQUARIUS:

January 20 to February 18

The future of your career has never seemed less clear to you. Monday is a typical Monday, except that you have some major nagging questions in the back of your mind as well. Commiserate with friends on Tuesday to get some perspective. Then, you'll go into Wednesday with a sense of expansiveness, a sense that anything is possible. Let this feeling last. Thursday and Friday, you have too much to do to be abstract and future-thinking, but Saturday and Sunday are great, inspiring days. You'll have all the time in the world to dwell on whatever you like. Lucky numbers: 33, 62, 90.

PISCES:

February 20 to March 21

Legal and financial matters are fuzzy at the start of the week. If you have a transaction to take care of on Monday, make sure you do it in person. Tuesday and Wednesday, you don't have to be as careful — everything goes your way naturally — but pay extra attention and take care to do the right thing, and you'll make major headway on several plans you once thought impossible. Thursday and Friday, a friend is in need of some help and might not know how to ask for it. Anticipate this. Saturday and Sunday, you're in a giving mood as well. Your advice is brilliant, so hand it out generously. Lucky numbers: 54, 78, 92.

High Milk Diet 'May Not Cut Risk of Bone Fractures'

Drinking lots of milk may not lower the risk of fracturing bones, a study in the British Medical Journal suggests.

The research, conducted in Sweden, showed women who drank more than three glasses a day were actually more likely to break bones than those who had less.

The researchers cautioned that their work only suggested a trend and should not be interpreted as proof that high milk consumption caused fractures.

Milk has been recommended as a good source of calcium for many years but studies considering whether it leads to stronger bones and fewer fractures have had conflicting results.

A team of scientists in Sweden examined the dietary habits of 61,400 women in 1987-1990 and 45,300 men in 1997 and then monitored their health for years afterwards.

Participants were asked to complete questionnaires on how frequently they consumed common foods such as milk, yoghurt and cheese over a one-year period.

Researchers then tracked how many developed fractures and how many participants died in the years afterwards.

In the 20-year follow-up period in which the women were monitored, those who drank more than three glasses, or 680ml, of milk a day were more likely to develop fractures than those who had consumed less.

The high-intake group had a higher risk of death too.

Prof Karl Michaelsson, lead researcher at Uppsala University, said: "Women who drank three or more glasses a day had twice the chance of dying at the end of the study than those who drank less than one glass a day."

"And those who had a high milk intake also had a 50% higher risk of hip fracture."

Men were monitored for an average of 11 years after the initial survey and the results showed a similar but less pronounced trend.

Opposite pattern

When fermented milk products such as yoghurt were considered, the opposite pattern was observed - people who consumed more had a lower risk of fractures.

Prof Michaelsson says the findings could be due to sugars in milk, which have been shown to accelerate ageing in some early animal studies.

"Our results may question the validity of recommendations to consume high amounts of milk to prevent fragility fractures."

"The results should, however, be interpreted cautiously given the observational design of our study."

Dietary advice should not be changed until more research had been conducted, he said.

Prof Sue Lanham-New, from the University of Surrey, said the study was of limited use. "We do not have a feel for the influence of physical activity or other lifestyle habits important to bone or overall mortality."

"And the effect of increasing body mass index has not been fully investigated in this study."

"Milk and dairy products in the UK provide 50-60% of the calcium in our diet."

"We know that low calcium intake (less than 400mg a day) is a risk factor for osteoporosis."

"Individuals should still be encouraged to consume a balanced diet from the five key food groups of which milk and dairy are key."

Hypertension

grade I–IV, although the milder types may be difficult to distinguish from each other. Ophthalmoscopy findings may also give some indication as to how long a person has been hypertensive.

Cause

Primary hypertension

Primary (essential) hypertension is the most common form of hypertension, accounting for 90–95% of all cases of hypertension. In almost all contemporary societies, blood pressure rises with aging and the risk of becoming hypertensive in later life is considerable. Hypertension results from a complex interaction of genes and environmental factors. Numerous common genetic variants with small effects on blood pressure have been identified as well as some rare genetic variants with large effects on blood pressure but the genetic basis of hypertension is still poorly understood. Several environmental factors influence blood pressure. Lifestyle factors that lower blood pressure include reduced dietary salt intake, increased consumption of fruits and low fat products (Dietary Approaches to Stop Hypertension (DASH diet)), exercise, weight loss and reduced alcohol intake. Stress appears to play a minor role with specific relaxation techniques not supported by the evidence. The possible role of other factors such as caffeine consumption, and vitamin D deficiency are less clear cut. Insulin resistance, which is common in obesity and is a component of syndrome X (or the metabolic syndrome), is also thought to contribute to hypertension. Recent studies have also implicated events in early life (for example low birth weight, maternal smoking and lack of breast feeding) as risk factors for adult essential hypertension, although the mechanisms linking these exposures to adult hypertension remain obscure.

Secondary hypertension

Secondary hypertension results from an identifiable cause. Renal disease is the most common secondary cause of hypertension. Hypertension can also be caused by endocrine conditions, such as Cushing's syndrome, hyperthyroidism, hypothyroidism, acromegaly, Conn's syndrome or hyperaldosteronism, hyperparathyroidism and pheochromocytoma. Other causes of secondary hypertension include obesity, sleep apnea, pregnancy, coarctation of the aorta, excessive liquorice consumption and certain prescription medicines, herbal remedies and illegal drugs.

Prevention

Much of the disease burden of high blood pressure is experienced by people who are not labelled as hypertensive. Consequently, population strategies are required to reduce the consequences of high blood pressure and reduce the need for antihypertensive drug therapy. Lifestyle changes are recommended to lower blood pressure, before starting drug therapy. The 2004 British Hypertension Society guidelines proposed the following lifestyle changes consistent with those outlined by the US National High BP Education Program in 2002 for the primary prevention of hypertension:

- maintain normal body weight for adults (e.g. body mass index 20–25 kg/m²)
- reduce dietary sodium intake to <100 mmol/ day (<6 g of sodium chloride or <2.4 g of sodium per day)

- engage in regular aerobic physical activity such as brisk walking (=30 min per day, most days of the week)

- limit alcohol consumption to no more than 3 units/day in men and no more than 2 units/day in women

- consume a diet rich in fruit and vegetables (e.g. at least five portions per day);

Effective lifestyle modification may lower blood pressure as much as an individual antihypertensive drug. Combinations of two or more lifestyle modifications can achieve even better results.
